TEMPTATION.

Brave youth take heed—Temptation stands,
All wreathed and draped in fragrant flowers,
And beckons you with jeweled hands
Into her odor-breathing bowers,
And offers you the sparkling bowl,
'Till prudent cautions self-control,
Manhood and pride, and hope are dead,
And every noble impulse fled.

She rarely comes in humble guise,
With downcast looks and modest glances,
But proudly, with bright laughing eyes
She woos you with her songs and dances;
Pause ere you join her giddy throng;
Pause ere you sing the ribald song;
And listen not, but quickly flee
Far from such scenes of revelry.

There's danger in her silver bowl;
Her bright and glittering chalices,
Will yield a poison to thy soul,
'Though quaffed in gilded palaces.
Then shun them all, and thou shalt tread
A path where flowers their perfume shed,
And every breeze shall waft to thee
Rich blessings for thy bravery.

[GRANT P. ROBINSON.

A LEAF FROM A MOTHER'S LIFE.

BY M. E. M.

Mrs. Leigh was dead tired. She was strong, and could bear more fatigue than most women nowdays can; but this had been a trying day. Theo had been naughty—a strange thing for the usually good, gentle boy; Fred had been noisier than usual; Jennie had torn her dress, and spilled ink on her white apron; Ruth had been cross; and baby—well, baby was in the agonies of dentition. At last, evening came, and peace. The last little foot had gone up the stair, the last good-night had been spoken. Queen Baby slept calmly in her cradle, and the overwrought mother had a moment to rest. She was worn out, and her husband was not by to comfort her; so she did a very foolish, womanly thing. She just leaned back in her rocking-chair, and had a good cry; and it relieved her infinitely.

"I was so cross and nervous to-day," she murmured. "It's no wonder the children were trying! I think they are my echoes, poor little things!"

It was a chilly March night, and all around Mrs. Leigh's home the winds moaned and lamented. It was a rocky nook in West Virginia. Snow still lay sifted in the hollows of the hills; though in other portions of the state spring had already made the gardens gay with flowers. Mrs. Leigh went to the window and looked out; but turned gladly back to survey her cheerful room, with the great wood-fire blazing in the wide fire-place, and the candles burning brightly on tables and mantel. Her husband was away over the hills. He was a hardworking Presbyterian minister, taking care of a scattered people, whose homes lay miles apart in this mountain land. Besides two regular preaching stations, where he officiated upon alternate Sabbaths, he had three or four places where, as he found opportunity, he broke the bread of life to the eager men and women, who prized his coming as a precious privilege. Mr. Leighton and Mr. Leighton's white horse, Standfast, were well known figures in that region; and many a blessing followed them as they plodded up and down the rough roads on their errands of peace. Some medical knowledge Mr. Leigh added to his theological lore; and often was he summoned by some tow-headed urchin, who had watched for him from a perch on the highest rail of the fence "all mornin'," to "come in and see Marm, coz Sue's got the chicken-pox, or Tom's sprained his ankle!" And when he had alleviated anxiety, or soothed pain of the body, how easy it was then to drop a word of the higher life, to speak a word for Jesus.

But we were with his wife at home. She roused herself suddenly from her unwonted idleness, and, drawing her overflowing basket toward her, threaded her needle and began her week's mending. She felt discouraged as she looked at the pile; but smiled as she remembered how often her mother had bidden her never to let "one week's work lap over the next." "Poor mother!" she thought, "how little she knows of my many cares. If I can only get enough clothes mended for the need of the coming Sabbath, I'll be satisfied!"

One sock was mended, when baby woke up. Mrs. Leigh nursed her, singing softly the while, "How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord;" and baby was complaisant, and presently fell asleep. Her mother laid her down again, and continued her hymn. It rested her to sing to herself those grand words of promise to the people of God. "I'll never, no never, no never forsake!" she sang.

"Mamma, mamma!" cried a voice from up-stairs.

"Yes, my love!"

"Please come here, mamma. I'm so firsty; and I'm as hot as fire, and pins are pricking me!"

It was Ruth—the three-year old girl.—She had been fretful and heavy-eyed all day, and Mrs. Leigh had been afraid she was going to be sick. She hastened to her now, candle in hand, to find her fears confirmed. There was no mistaking that scarlet skin, the tongue hot and blistered, as if powdered with cayenne, the bloodshot eyes.

"God help me!" she whispered. "It is scarlet fever! Oh! if husband were only here!"

Scarlet fever—most dreaded of visitants in households where little children are—came seldom into that pine, airy region.—But this spring there had been one or two cases in the village; and mothers were holding their darlings close, and realizing, as they did not often, how frail was the tenure by which they held them.

"I can't have Ruthie sick here," thought Mrs. Leigh; "and if I take her into my room, there's baby. And I've no place to send the others to, any way. I'll call Aunt Chloe."

The kitchen was outside of the house, some distance away. Wrapping a shawl about her, Mrs. Leigh ran down the paved walk that led to it, and knocked at the low door. No answer. After her day's work, Aunt Chloe was wont to sleep soundly,—She knocked again and called; and Des, the great Newfoundland dog, jumped on the door, and barked in his deep voice.—Presently a window above was opened and Aunt Chloe's turbaned head was cautiously poked out.

"Do lan' sakes, Miss Mary! Whatever is the matter now?"

"Dress yourself, Aunt Chloe, and come into the house. I need you."

A few moments sufficed for Aunt Chloe's dressing; and she came in with her slow, deliberate step, saying:

"Now, Miss Mary, is you 'fraid to stay long by yourself to-night, or what?"

"Aunt Chloe, Ruth has the scarlet fever!"

"Is you sure, honey?"

"Yes, yes; I know it only too well.—Now what shall I do?"

"You can't do nuffin', child, but lift her up in de blanket, and take her into your room and take care of her. Her father'll be home to-morrow, and [illegible] no use sending for Doctor Green to-night."

"No, indeed," said Mrs. Leigh. "It's three miles off, and we have nobody to send."

"And he couldn't do nuffin' if he was here!" said Aunt Chloe. "Come, Miss Mary, let us move the chile."

"Ruth, dear, you are going to sleep with mamma to night!" said Mrs. Leigh, as Aunt Chloe's strong arms lifted the little figure and bore her, blankets and all, into mamma's pleasant room.

"Good!" said the child. "I love to sleep with mamma," and a smile played over her face as she found herself in that paradise of the children, "mamma's bed."

"I'll just bring in my mattress and a quilt and stay here," said Chloe, as Mrs. Leigh began to undress. "And, Miss Mary, we'll jis' trust her to de Lord Jesus—our little Ruth; he can make her well, if he wants to. Don't look so sad, Miss Mary. 'Cas' thy burden on de Lord!' It's the on'y way to bar a burden in dis world."

Mrs. Leigh read and prayed, and found a little comfort, as God's children ever do, at the throne of grace. Then she lay down by Ruth, but not to sleep.

Ruth tossed and moaned, and flung herself about, and was what Aunt Chloe called "a very sick child." Early in the morning, Ned, the boy of all work, was dispatched for Dr. Green; and that gentleman, mounted on his shaggy pony, as well-known as the minister's, arrived in due time. His saddle-bags were filled with medicine, and as he came into the room, spectacles on nose, Mrs. Leigh exclaimed:

"Oh, Doctor, I am so glad you have come! Ruth is so very, very sick!"

"Pooh, pooh! my child, she will do very well! You must look out for yourself.—Your eyes look as if they hadn't been shut all night. Let me feel the pulse—so, so."

And, with directions as to treatment and medicine, Doctor Green departed.

It was nearly noon when little Theo set up a shout of "Father's coming! Father's coming!" Old Standfast came on with his steady jog trot, and whinnied cheerfully as his rider drew rein at the familiar gate.—Theo sprang on his back for a ride to the barn, and the minister came into the house.

Mrs. Leigh came down to meet him.

"Well, my darling?"

"Ruth is sick!—scarlet fever!"

"Ah! And you were alone, poor child!"

"Come and have dinner before you see her," said the wife, leading the way into the household-room, which served for parlor, dining-room, and study. Chloe had already set on the hot coffee and smoking pone; and presently she brought in the dish of broiled ham and the baked sweet potatoes. The children gathered around the table, father reverently asked the blessing, and then all ate as only the hungry and healthy can. Except mother—she forced a few morsels down, but her appetite was gone.

"I knew she was going to be sick!" she said, as they stood afterward at their darling's bed. "It was so unlike my sunbeam to be cross, as Ruth was the past two or three days. And now I am afraid she won't get well. And, oh, Charlie! I spoke impatiently to her only yesterday. How can I forgive myself?"

"It is unlike you to have done so, my patient little wife! You think so because you are weary and anxious. I have never seen a more patient and gentle mother."

"Everything combined to vex me the other day—yesterday, I mean—dear; but it seems longer ago than that. I had a headache, too; and I certainly did speak sharply to Ruth. Mamma's love, mamma's darling!" she murmured, in a soft, cooing accent, as she bent over the little one.

"Well, dearest, don't grieve over it now. If we were to remember all our hasty words, and brood over them in sorrow, we should have little time for anything else. Go now and rest, and I'll watch by Ruth."

The mother's forboding was a sort of prescience of the truth. Days followed days. Everything seemed at first satisfactory; but the terrible sore throat followed the fever, and after the most instense suffering there came a day when the parents heard the fearful words, "No hope!"

"Spare her, oh, God! spare her!—I only ask her life," wailed the mother, as she sank on her knees and buried her face in the bed-clothes.

"If it be Thy holy will," in low, solemn accents, said the father—"if it be Thy will to take our child to Thee, oh, make us willing to give her up."

But Mrs. Leigh could not at first pray this way. Her mother's heart craved only that her little one might live—live.

"Darling," said her husband, "do not pray so! I have seen such prayers fearfully answered. We would not wish our child to live an idiot, the light of reason quenched; we would not even choose for her. God knows best, darling; let us trust in him."

That night little Ruth was released from her pain. A white, still shadow, a broken lily, she lay on "mother's bed;" and thence they bore her to a bed, very still and quiet, in the shade of the wind-swept pines. The turfy coverlet above her was star-set with daisies and sweet with violets; and, in after days, it came to be a spot over which might have been written Peace. Mrs. Leigh mourned in abandonment of grief for a long time; but at last the Saviour's hand healed her wound, and she learned to be glad for the angel child who waited for her above, no less than for the dear ones who waited with her below.

When another child was born, and a neighbor suggested that they should call her "Ruth," Mrs. Leigh said:

"No, my friend. We have not lost our little one. She is still one of the family—only gone home first. Another must not wear her name."

It was very beautiful to notice how parents and children often spoke of Ruth. In some bereaved homes the name of the dead is seldom spoken; the belongings of the dead are put carefully aside. Here, when Alice, prompted from babyhood, was very good, she was given dear sister Ruth's dolly to hold; and Ruth's toys were always most carefully treasured by the others. The little sister in Heaven made Heaven fairer and more real to all the rest. The father, as he plodded to and fro on his faithful Standfast, had many a sweet thought of "home" beyond the river, and the mother, in her weariest hours, found herself, as never before, resting herself with the anticipation of an eternity to rest in.—*N. ### A SPUNE.

Perhaps one of the most enjoyable things in a modern court of justice, where not unfrequently innocent witnesses, who are losing patience, time and money, in their compulsory occupancy of the witness stand (which is a pillory) are "bully-ragged" and tormented—is the torturing return of some impudent, unfeeling advocate. A case in point:

In a court not more than five thousand miles away from the city of Gotham, a legal gentleman had gone through the various stages of bar pleading, and hardcoaxed and threatened, and bullied the witnesses to his heart's content, when it chanced that a stupid fellow, a hostler, was called upon the stand. He was, in fact, simplicity personified. The counsel it should be premised, had made a great fuss about the previous witness speaking so low that he could not hear him.

"Now, sir," said the learned counsel, "I hope we shall have no difficulty in making you speak up."

He himself spoke rudely loud.

"I hope not sir," shouted the witness in such bellowing tones that fairly shook the building.

"How dare you speak in that way sir?" demanded the counsel.

"Can't speak no louder," he shouted, louder than before, as if to atone for his fault in speaking too low.

"Have you been drinking this morning?" asked the lawyer, who had now entirely lost his temper at the roars of laughter which burst from a crowded audience.

"Yes, sir," said the witness, frankly.

"And what have you been drinking?—Look at the jury—don't look at me in that way."

"Coffee, sir."

"Did you have anything in your coffee, sir?"

"Yes, sir."

"I thought so," said the counsel, with a glance at the jury. "Well, sir," continued the learned counsel, "you say you had 'something' in your coffee. State to the jury if you please what that 'something' was."

"Sugar, sir," answered the witness, without a movement of the muscle.

There was another burst of "furtive laughter" throughout the court-room.

"This man is no fool, your honor," addressing the court, "but he is something worse. Now, witness, you must come to the point. Had you anything else in your coffee besides sugar?"

"Yes, sir."

"Yes—you had. (Well, we are likely to get at the truth, after all this turning and twisting to the contrary, notwithstanding.) Well, sir, what else was it you had in your coffee?"

"A spune, sir!" shouted the witness; "do I make you hear me, Squire? A spune!"

That was the last witness, and the last of him on the stand. Here the trial was adjourned until the next day.

PROPOSED ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.—A correspondence has taken place between the Department of State and the British government in reference to a scheme proposed for holding a series of international exhibitions annually in London, the first exhibition to be held in 1871. The objects of the proposed exhibition, as set forth in the communication of the British commissioners, is to have a display of the fine arts and industries of all countries, without the usual heavy expenses attendant upon such occasions. The articles to be exhibited into four classes: Fine arts, Scientific Inventions and New Discoveries of all kinds, Manufactures, and Horticulture. The arrangement of the articles will be according to classes and not nationalities, as hitherto. One-third of the whole space available will be assigned absolutely to foreign exhibitors, who must obtain certificates from their respective governments. The first of the series of exhibitions will be opened at South Kensington on Monday, May 1, of the present year, and close September 30, 1871. Our Government having been requested to appoint a commissioner for the purpose of corresponding with the British commissioners on the subject of the exhibitions, President Grant has appointed N. M. Beckwith, Esq., of New York, as commissioner on behalf of the United States.

WHAT NEW YORK CITY IS DOING FOR ROMANISM.—During the past year, no less than $412,000 was paid over from the Treasury of the city to pay Roman Catholic Schools. In 1866, the municipal representatives gave the Roman Catholic Archbishop, for the nominal sum of one dollar a year, half a block of ground on Madison Avenue, now worth $200,000. In 1852, they gave the same sect, for $83 consideration, the fee of a whole block of ground, running from Fifth to Fourth avenues, which is now worth a million and a half of dollars. In 1864, they paid this sect $24,000 for the privilege of extending Madison avenue across this same ground they threw away. Then they added $8,928 as a donation, to pay the assessments. In 1864, they gave them half the block on Fifth avenue for one dollar rent, and in 1857, they generously threw in the rest of the block for another dollar. This block is worth another million and a half. In all better than three millions and a half of dollars to support the Roman Catholic Religion. Does not that look as if the City of New York and the Roman Church were united?

ARMY OFFICERS.—A number of applications have been presented to the Secretary of War to rescind his orders, approved by the President, transferring certain officers from Washington city to duty at other posts, but the Secretary refused to make any change in the order, and he is sustained by the President. These soft places have been enjoyed for a long time by the officers who seek to have the order modified. Many of them never smelt gunpowder, nor have they known anything of the hardships of the soldier's life. They have been mere feather bed soldiers, and it is to these facts, in part, that the order scattering them to Western posts is attributable. The President and Secretary of War, being practical soldiers, feel that there is necessity for a change from labor to refreshment, so far as the soldiers who served in the field are concerned, and they desire that some of the latter class shall, for a time, repose in the comparatively easy chairs in the Washington departments. To this none object save those who are to be displaced.

THE anecdote is as good as it is old—A college professor [illegible] geology class to collect specimens; and one day they deposited a piece of brick, streaked [illegible] with their collections, thinking to impose on the doctor. Taking up the specimens, the professor remarked: "This is a piece of basalt from the Cheshire mines." Holding up another: "This is a piece of feldspar from the Portland [illegible]," coming to the brick, "is a piece of impudence from some member of this class."

A POINT OF HONOR.—In the flush times of Vicksburg, when the phrase "hard case" meant something more than it does now, Harvey Jenkins was admittedly one of the hardest. By some strange accident Harvey found himself at church one evening. The sermon being over, the preacher requested all who were friendly to religion to rise and hold up their right hand. The whole audience apparently were on their feet. After they were seated, the minister continued—

"Now, if there is a single one here who desires to see Satan and his kingdom prosper, he will rise and hold up his right hand."

Harvey, with some difficulty, got to an erect position, and said—

"Had the vote been less unanimous, I should have retained my seat; but I make it a point of honor never to abandon a friend under adverse circumstances."

DR. HALL, the artic explorer, has a new theory respecting the aurora borealis. He thinks the boreal display is produced by the rays of the sun, which are reflected from clouds surrounding the pole to the ice and snow of the arctic regions, and thence again reflected to the clouds, and so back and forth, until it comes within our range of vision. The glancing and flashing of the columns of light, he holds, are caused by the motion of the clouds, an exact correspondence being traceable between the movements of the light and those of the clouds.

AN irresistibly ludicrous sight was presented on Sunday at Springfield. A fellow who evidently hadn't been to the right sort of revival meeting, with bleared and bloodshot eyes and a black pipe between his teeth, was embracing with one arm the Indian sentinel before one of the cigar stores, and gazing into its stolid face with an air of puzzled admiration, and doubtless on the verge of inviting the wooden sachem to "come along and take something."

A MEMPHIS paper tells this anecdote: An anxious-looking chap wandered into the Mayor's office the other day and asked permission to look at the book in which the names of candidates for office are entered. The clerk blandly asked, "what office are you running for, sir?" To which the other replied, "Wall, I dunno; thought I'd look over and go for any vacancy that might turn up. I'm beastly fond of orfis."

A TOLEDO German, who has kept a saloon for the accomodation of printers, has had to suspend on account of the customary impecuniosity of the craft. Here is a list of some of his customers, as found on the books: "Der Laim Brinter"; "Der Leetle Brinter"; "Der Pen Putler Brinter"; "Tivel"; "Der Brinter mit der red hair"; "Der er mit hair not so red."

A LITTLE reconstructed Southern girl, five years old, asked a colored servant, in the course of theological examination, what the 15th commandment was. The reply that there were only 10 commandments was scornfully received, and the child gravely announced that the 15th commandment was that the colored people should vote.

A MAJOR in the United States army was crossing from England in one of the Cunard steamers, when one afternoon a band on deck played "Yankee Doodle." A gruff Englishman who stood by inquired whether that was the tune the old cow died of.—"Not at all," retorted the major; "that is the tune the old Bull died of!"

☞A young man on being asked by a judge whether he had a father and mother, said he wasn't quite certain whether he had or not; first his father died, and then his mother married again and then his mother died, and his father married again; and now he didn't exactly know whether they were his father and mother or not.

OLD master Brown brought his ferrule down,
His face was angry and red;

By the girl who loved him best.

PUT an Englishman into the Garden of Eden, and he would find fault with the whole blasted concern; put a Yankee in, and he would see where he could alter it to advantage; put an Irishman in, and he would want to boss the thing; put a Dutchman in, and he would proceed at once to plant it.

THE late dean of Cape town, in relating his experience with tracts, found that the charity inculcated in them led one of his penitents to say: "I'm a changed man, sir, through them tracts. Once I cared for neither God or Devil, and now I loves 'em both alike!"

"ACCORDING to Milton, Eve kept silence in Eden to hear her husband talk," said a gentleman to a lady friend; and then added, in a melancholy tone, "Alas! there have been no Eves since." "Because," quickly retorted the lady, "there have been no husbands worth listening to."

A CONTEMPORARY suggests that if drivers would know, experimentally, how a horse feels when his reins are twitched and jerked and "yanked," they should take a good-sized board-nail into their mouth, and, tying a cord to either end, should give a lively boy the ends, and let him yank them awhile.

SOME rash fellow says that the giving of the ballot to woman would not amount to much; for none of them would admit that they were old enough to vote until they were too old to take any interest in politics.

THE York Gazette says there is a colored woman in that place who has reached the extreme age of one hundred and six years. She was a slave, and manumitted in 1816 at the age of fifty-two. She never used glasses, and attends daily to domestic duties.

A LITTLE four-year-old boy in Richmond, Va., on being asked by his mother if he would not like to be an angel and have wings, replied that he had rather be a hawk and live on chicken.

A WOMAN with a "special telegram from Heaven," almost broke up a church service in New York, on Sunday. The minister declared the wires to be down between New York and that place.

"Hic!" ejaculated a tipsy husband as he stumbled up stairs. "Jacet," answered his wife, completing the quotation as he fell on the landing.

ALL HAIL! THE WORK COMPLETED.

Telegraphic despatches from Nebraska announce the ratification of the 15th Constitutional Amendment by that State. There were but five votes against it, one in the Senate and four in the House. This completes the great struggle for Manhood Suffrage, and puts the cap-stone on the secured results of the War. Nine years ago the Slave Oligarchy, not content with its dominant influence in the councils of the nation, nor with the black flag of Human Slavery floating over one-half its territory, inaugurated Civil War to rivet more securely the fetters of the Slave and erect a new Republic, in which the dealing in human flesh and blood should be dignified and perpetuated through all time as a Christian institution. And lo! the result. To-day not a Slave treads our soil. Wherever the flag of the Repulic floats, it asserts the brotherhood of man—the equality of all men before the law—the dignity of labor—and the enfranchisement of all citizens, with equal political rights.

The following States have now ratified the 15th Amendment:

Alabama,
Arkansas,
Connecticut,
Florida,
Georgia,
Iowa,
Illinois,
Indiana,
Kansas,
Louisiana,
Maine,
Massachusetts,
Missouri,
Minnesota,
Mississippi,
Michigan,
New York,
New Hampshire,
Nevada,
Nebraska,
North Carolina,
Ohio,
Pennsylvania,
Rhode Island,
South Carolina,
Texas,
Wisconsin,
West Virginia,
Vermont,
Virginia—30.

The States which have rejected the Amendment are as follows:

New Jersey,
Delaware,
Maryland,
Kentucky,
California,
Oregon—6.

[Oregon has not yet voted, but we assume that she is against the Amendment.]

This gives 30 States, 2 more than requisite, for its ratification. But New York undertook to recall her ratification, while Indiana, troubled by Democratic secession in the Legislature, undertook to ratify without a quorum in the lower House. Some doubt has been expressed as to the position of these two States; but the action in Texas and Nebraska settle the question without them.

As soon as President Grant receives official information of the ratification by Nebraska, he will issue his Proclamation announcing the adoption of the Amendment as the supreme law of the land. We republish the exact text of the amendment:

"SECTION 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

"SEC. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

GOV. GEARY.

During the past week, we have heard sound Republicans express some solicitude as to Gov. Geary's party relations, with apprehensions of the Republicans being Johnsonized. We do not share these apprehensions. Gov. Geary is made of essentially different stuff from Andy Johnson. The latter was a blatant politician—always a demagogue—and was nominated by the Republican National Convention simply by reason of his vindictive denunciations of the Rebellion at a time when such denunciations echoed the popular feeling. Gov. Geary is a tried soldier, who met Treason on the bloodiest battle-fields of the War, and knows from personal experience the enormity of the crime of Rebellion. His Republicanism, moreover, anti-dates the War, he having thoroughly learned the demoralization of the Democratic party, and its infidelity to constitutional freedom, in the Border Ruffians struggles to enslave free Kansas. His judgment and conscience recoiled from longer affiliation with the Democratic party, and refused do the bidding of the Slave power, when that party was still dominant in the nation and that power ruled the Government—and that, too, when men, since recognized as earnest Republican workers, were blindly following party leaders whose treasonable purposes culminated in open Rebellion. Hence our confidence in Gov. Geary's Republicanism is undoubting. Nor is this confidence affected by the fact that we have been compelled to differ from him in some of his official acts, and that, as independant journalists, we have deemed it a duty frankly to express our views. We believe Gov. Geary to be a sound Republican—a conscientious man, and a pure Executive, solicitous to do his whole duty as the Chief Magistrate of the State. He may err, but to err is human. He may differ, in his judgment of right and duty, from other true Republicans; but that does not affect his fidelity to the essential principles of the Republican party, and should not in any wise shake the confidence of his Republican friends.

As we have, on more than one occasion, expressed disapprobation of Gov. Geary's official acts, this explanation is alike due to him, ourselves, and our readers.

THE Compiler thinks the Commissioners could have made their annual statement more full and thus gratified the tax-payers of the county, who would prefer to have the items which make up sundry aggregates; but it would have cost "a goodly number of dollars in its publication." We hardly think the apology will be accepted as satisfactory by tax-payers who want more light. The printing bill in Adams is far below the average in other counties, so far as appears from the published accounts. Whatever extravagances exists, is not chargeble in that direction. The use of a little more "printer's ink," might give additional light and satisfy reasonable curiosity. Affected economy in the matter of informing tax-payers what becomes of their money, won't answer.

THE Republicans of Bedford county held a meeting on the 15th inst., and unanimously adopted a resolution recomending the re-nomination of Hon. John Cessna for Congress. The meeting was address by Mr. Cessna and Capt. W. C. Holahan.

THE Senate, on Thursday last, passed, by a strict party vote, the House bill for the admission of Mississippi; the conditions being the same as in the Virginia bill. A motion to strike out the conditions failed, yeas 27, nays 32.

THE investigation by the Legislative Committee into the management of the State Treasury has developed a remarkable state of things, fully justifying the strong animadversions in Gov. Geary's message, and imperiously demanding stringent legislation to bar similar operations in future. State Treasury Mackey has been on the witness stand, and the fact is developed that the large balances in the Treasury—often exceeding a million of dollars—are deposited from time to time with various parties in different portions of the State, banks, brokers, and private business firms, in sums ranging from $5,000 to a quarter of a million. These deposits vary in length of time, as suits the convenience of the Treasury and the wishes of parties—sometimes a month, often a year. Besides these aggregates, an item appears in the monthly statements of the Treasurer, known as the "vault account," which varies from a little over $5,000 to something over $471,000. It appears, however, that the "vault account," instead of being cash, represents only due bills and checks at sight, the money being loaned out to accommodate parties in need of it. Mr. Mackey declined to answer the question as to whether he was compensated for these favors, but admitted deposits of the public moneys were made at times in certain banks, the intention being that individuals already selected should borrow them from such institutions.

With such developments we are not surprised at the discreditable annual contests for the State Treasuryship—the successful candidate having it in his power to re-imburse his backers by these princely loans. Gov. Geary deserves great credit for his fearless denunciation of the whole system, and the Legislature will be faithless to duty if it does not promptly remedy the evil by stringent legislation. We do not suppose that Mr. Mackey's administration was more faulty than those of his predecessors, whether Republican or Democratic, custom, running through a long line of incumbents of the office, may palliate the mal-administration of the past year, but cannot justify its continuance. The wonder is, that with such looseness in the management of the State funds—the Treasurer scattering them broadcast as largesses among personal friends and potent corporations—large amounts have not been lost.

THE friends of Gen. Fitz John Porter are moving actively to secure a rehearing of his case. He was tried by Court Martial for disobedience of orders at the second battle of Bull Run, found guilty, and dismissed from the service, and debarred from holding office under the Government forever. In the U. S. Senate, on Monday, Senator Chandler, of Michigan, offered a resolution calling on the President for the papers relative to a re-opening of the case, and made it the basis of a bitter attack on Porter. Mr. Chandler was a member of the Committee on the conduct of the War, and claimed to be in possession of facts not generally known. He said that after McClellan's disastrous campaign in front of Richmond, Pope was ordered to Washington to make a diversion so as to withdraw Rebel attention from McClellan, and enable him to save his army. Pope had but 40,000 troops, and a hundred miles of territory to cover, to protect Washington, until McClellan's troops could be brought around by water. The orders were so hazardous that Pope asked to be relieved; but the War Department ordered him to take the field, make a show of attack on the enemy, and if assailed in return to do the best he could. Pope at once sent scouts down into Virginia to give out the impression that he was advancing with a force of 120,000, the newspaper correspondents at Washington telegraphing sensational despatches of like character. The enemy were deceived, left McClellan quietly to ship his troops, and turned their attention to Pope. Then came the fierce struggles and stragetic movements to keep the enemy at bay, Pope, with his small army, fighting desperately for eleven days, making, according to Senator Chandler, the most brilliant campaign that had been made up to that time. The final struggle came after a portion of McClellan's army had reached the scene of conflict. On the 27th and 28th of August, Fitz John Porter, with 30,000 fresh troops, lay within 26 miles of Pope. Pope ordered Porter to move his troops at once. Porter failed to do, nor did he bring a single soldier into action, although his corps lay during the entire day within hearing of the enemy's guns, which were dealing death and destruction to Pope's gallant little army. The result was, as every one knows, a disastrous defeat. Pope preferred charges against Porter, and the Court Martial, after a trial running through forty-five days, unanimously found him guilty. Mr. Chandler says the inclination of the Court Martial was to pass sentence of death, but out of regard for President Lincoln's known kindness of heart, the sentence of dismissal from the service, &c., was substituted. In closing, Mr. Chandler said—"Fitz John Porter should thank his God that he lives. I said to General Pope after that campaign that there was only one thing I disapproved of in his conduct, and that was that he ever allowed Fitz John Porter to leave that field alive."

NOT OVER YET.—The end of agitation on the negro question, is not yet, by a long mark. Sambo goes to the polls, but he is not admitted to hotels, and theatres, and opera houses, on a full equality with white men, nor are his children seated by the side of white girls and boys in the public schools. These are the open points on which agitation is to be continued for political effect.—Democratic Exchange.

The Democracy stick to the "nigger" with a dogged resolution unaccountable, but for the fact that for long years it has been their stock in trade. Holding up the "raw head and bloody bones" of negro equality has served to keep the rank and file up to the rack, even when there was no fodder. Manhood Suffrage has enfranchised over half a million colored voters, and yet these blind leaders, unable to get out of the rut of prejudice engendered by long habit, propose to defy this potent political element by continued agitation. The spectre of dead issues is to be held up for "political agitation." Negroes voted in Pennsylvania up to 1838, as they do to-day in Democratic New York, yet we have never heard of their being "admitted to hotels, and theatres, and opera houses, on a full equality with white men," in either State. The "nigger" didn't win for the Democracy in the past, and we guess it won't prove more potent now, that the long struggle has ended in recognizing the manhood of all citizens, irrespective of race or color.

THE House, on Monday, adopted a resolution directing the Committee on Banking and Currency to report a bill to increase the volume of currency to $50,000,000, yeas 108, nays 73.

NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The national association formed for the purpose of securing such an amendment to the Constitution of the United States as will secure a distinct acknowledgment of "Almighty God the Author of our national existence; Jesus Christ, the Ruler of Nations, and the Bible, the fountain of law and good morals as well as religion," have issued a call for a National Convention to meet in Pittsburg, on Thursday next, March 3, in furtherance of the objects of the association. The call is signed by Judge Strong, ex-Gov. Pollock, Gen. Howard, Bishop Scott, Rev Dr. Jacobus, Rev. Dr. Hodge, and a number of prominent ministers and laymen of the various evangelical denominations.

IN consequence of the extraordinary rulings of the Committee in the Scull-Findlay case, showing a manifest prejudgment of the case and a determination to block out all fair attempts to prove fraudulent votes against Findlay, Mr. Scull determined to abandon the contest, and accordingly left Harrisburg with Gen. Koontz, his counsel.—Every offer of evidence going to affect Findlay's right to the seat was overruled, Senator Lowry voting uniformly with the Democratic members of the Committee. The case being abandoned by Mr. Scull under these circumstances, the Committee of course reported in favor of Findlay. Mr. Scull addressed a sharp letter to the Committee, assigning his reasons for withdrawing from the contest, and charging the majority of the Committee with a settled purpose to prevent a fair hearing or a determination of the case on its merits.

THE Congressional Committee, appointed to investigate the rumors about the sale of Cadet appointments, on Monday reported a resolution to the effect that Mr. Whittemore, a member of the House from South Carolina, had been proven guilty and recommending his expulsion. Action on the resolution was postponed. It is said the testimony before the Committee implicates other members of the present and previous Congresses.

It is said Whittemore has sent his resignation to the Governor of South Carolina, to avoid expulsion.

THE credentials of Mr. Revels, the colored Senator from Mississippi, were presented to the Senate on Wednesday. No objection was made on the ground of color, but a discussion arose as to the legality of an election made by the Legislature before Congress had declared the State admitted to the Union, pending which the Senate adjourned.

HON. Anson Burlingame, Minister Plenipotentiary of the Chinese Government, died on Wednesday at St. Petersburg, after an illness of four days.

SIR Roderick Murchison puts no faith whatever in the recent report that Dr. Livingstone had been burried as a wizard in the interior of Africa. A letter has been published by Sir Roderick, in which he gives forcible reasons for believing that the great traveler could not have reached the region at the time that it is alleged he met a horrible death. A rumor of Dr. Livingstone's death, published two years ago, met general credence, but was persistently denied by Sir Roderick, and time proved him right. We trust that his belief in the intrepid explorer's safety is equally well-founded now.

BORDER DAMAGE CLAIMS.

The following is [illegible] of the Bill now p[illegible] before the Legislature, for the payment of D[illegible] sustained in the border counties by [illegible] invasion:

An act to authorize the payment of damages sustained by citizens of Pennsylvania during the war of the Rebellion, and to provide means therefor.

Whereas, The correlative rights of support by the citizens and protection by the State are the basis of all government, and the power to enforce the former involves the duty to insure the latter; and

Whereas, The citizens of the counties of York, Perry, Cumberland, Franklin, Adams, Fulton and Bedford, in this Commonwealth, have at all times yielded support to the State, paid the contributions necessary for the maintenance of its governmental machinery, and furnished their quota of men to defend the State in war, to sustain the General Government, and to maintain the supremacy of the law; and

Whereas, During the war of the Rebellion the State and National Governments impressed the property of citizens of the said counties for public uses, whithout compensation, and failed in their duty to protect the citizens aforesaid, and their property was desecrated and destroyed by the common enemy, and they alone of all the people of the Northern States suffered injury by the ravages of the war, for which they have received no adequate remuneration; and

Whereas, The Legislature of Pennsylvania, by its acts approved respectively the 22d day of April, 1863, the 15th day of February, 1866, and the 9th day of April, 1868, authorized an investigation of the alleged injuries and an adjudication of the damages sustained by the citizens aforesaid, and the same was duly made and returned, and now remains on file in the offices of the Aditor-General of this Commonwealth and of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin county, whereby the truth of the facts alleged and the amount of damages by them respectively sustained is fully determined, and a part of said damages has been paid; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes the duty to protect her citizens in return for their support and allegiance, and affims her right to demand from the General Government indemnity for the losses by her citizens so as aforesaid sustained, and desires to provide for the payment of the remainder of the damages so adjudicated; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the Governor, Auditor General and State Treasurer be and are hereby authorized to borrow by the first day of June next, on the faith of the Commonwealth, in such amounts and with such notice as they deem fit, seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and issue certificates of loan or bonds of this Commonwealth for the same, bearing interest at six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of February and August in the city of Philadelphia, which certificates of loans or bonds shall not be subject to any taxation whatever, and shall be payable as follows, viz:—One half thereof at any time after five years and within ten years; and the residue thereof at any time after seven years and within twelve years, and shall be signed by the Governor and State Treasurer, and countersigned by the Auditor-General, and indorsed "Rebel Raid Bonds," and registered in the books of the Auditor-General at the Farmer's and Mechanics National Bank of Philadelphia, the proceeds of the whole of which loan, including premiums received on the same, shall be applied to the payment of the residue of the claims for damages aforesaid in the manner hereinafter set forth.

SECTION 2. The provisions of the second and fifth sections of the act of Assembly, entitled "An act to create a loan for the redemption of the overdue bonds of the Commonwealth," approved February 2, A. D. 1867, be and they are hereby made applicable to the loan hereby created.

SECTION 3. In addition to the amount to be raised by the loan provided for in the first section of this act, the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and required to pay upon the claims aforesaid, out of any moneys in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, as hereinafter provided and set forth, the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, on the 15th day of March, A. D. 1870, and the further sum of three hundred thousand dollars on the 1st day of December, 1870, and a like sum of three hundred thousand dollars on the 1st days of June and December in each year thereafter, until the whole amount of the said claims, adjudicated as hereinafter provided, shall have been paid.

SECTION 4. That it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer, immediately after the receipt of the amount of the loan authorized by the first section of this act, and also immediately after the dates when the appropriations made by the third section of this act respectively become payable, to proceed to divide the said several sums of money among the counties in which the losses aforesaid were incurred, in proportion to the said counties respectively: Provided, That for the purpose of preventing any claim, or part thereof, from being duplicated by reason of the several adjudications hereinbefore mentioned, and to guard against any misapplication of the money hereby appropriated, the said claims shall be first severally examined, adjusted and approved as follows, viz:—By Levi Maish and Arthur N. Green, for the county of York; by David Wills and William McClean, for the county of Adams; by Wilbur F. Sadler and John R. Miller, for the counties of Cumberland and Perry; by George A. Smith and J. H. Longnecker, for the counties of Bedford and Fulton, and by Theodore McGowan and J. Wyeth Douglas, for the county of Franklin. And the Commissioners designated for the said counties respectively shall have the power to diminish, but not to increase, any claim beyond the amount originally adjudicated thereto, and the decision thereon shall be final; but no claim, nor any part thereof, shall be paid under the provisions of this act until the same shall have been examined and approved in the manner herein stated; and in case of any vacancy occurring among the Commissioners aforesaid, by death, resignation, or refusal or inability to serve, it shall be the duty of the Governor immediately to appoint a proper person to fill the vacancy, the appointee to be from the county in which the vacancy shall occur, and any person so appointed shall have all the powers and authorities conferred by this act.

TO THE LADY OF THE HOUSE.—You will find that you have been relieved of a "world of care," when you have deposited your silver ware, your diamonds and jewelry, your private papers, &c., in a "parlor safe," and you have the key safely in your possession. Particularly so, will you feel this gratification, if you are going out to spend the evening, and the servants are expecting their "cousins" to visit them. You will do yourself a great injustice and place a temptation in the reach of your domestics, if you fail to provide a receptical for the safe keeping of your valuables. Herring's Parlor Safes are as ornamental and more useful than a Piano. 1t

OUR AGRICULTURAL CONDITION.

The condition of our Agricultural interests is, at present, attracting more than the usual amount of inquiry. The price of nearly all agricultural products has, in obedience to natural laws of economy, declined to their natural level, whilst the prices of nearly all other articles of merchandise refuse to follow. The causes of this state of things are, possibly, not generally understood, and a little inquiry in that direction may prove interesting.

Our country being naturally an agricultural one, we usually have, as is always the case in such a country, a surplus of grain, over and above our own wants, for export; and the price which this exported surplus will command in foreign countries, is the price at which the whole crop must be sold at home. Thus it is that our price of wheat, &c., is now regulated by the price in England, regardless of what may be the cost of production here; and as a par currency prevails in England, the price there is simply a gold price, which makes it here in currency the gold price with the premium added. For this reason it is that gold and wheat always sympathize in price; an advance in gold always brings an advance in the price of wheat.

If now the prices of all other articles of merchandise, of which farmers are such large consumers, were regulated by the same laws as gold and wheat, then they would decline in common with the latter; but as they do not, as the present condition of affairs shows, there must be some other cause at work which keeps them up. This cause we find in the amount of our currency. Gold, being the standard of value, is regulated in price, not alone by the redundancy of the currency, but also by the confidence which the people may have in the government and the currency. This is amply shown by the manner in which gold advanced during the gloomiest periods of the Rebellion, and declined again when matters looked more hopeful, even though the amount of currency in circulation remained the same all the time. Thus it comes, also, that in one year after the close of the war, gold and wheat had declined about forty per cent., whilst all other merchandise was still held at an advance estimated at one hundred and twenty-five per cent. At the present time, this matter is still more apparent. Restored confidence is steadily bringing down the price of gold and agricultural products, at least such as are exported, whilst the volume of the currency has not been contracted in a similar degree, so as to bring down all other articles. In order to show the operation of these laws more clearly I subjoin the following table, taken, as to the figures, from the Financial Report of 1863. The years embraced in these figures contain the periods of the most violent expansion and contraction under the State Bank currency. A table embracing the years between 1860 and 1870 would illustrate this matter more satisfactorily and would be presented if at hand.

| Years. | Price of Flour. | Currency per capita. | General prices. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1846 | $5.06 | $9.94 | $16.69 |
| 1847 | 6.67 | 9.38 | 20.82 |
| 1848 | 5.96 | 10.67 | 16.53 |
| 1849 | 5.50 | 9.18 | 16.45 |
| 185 | 5.55 | 10.39 | 16.20 |
| 1851 | 4.52 | 11.86 | 19.42 |
| 1852 | 5.00 | 13.31 | 21.42 |
| 1853 | 5.77 | 13.65 | 22.47 |
| 1854 | 8.94 | 14.95 | 20.84 |
| 1855 | 8.76 | 13.93 | 22.78 |
| 1856 | 6.42 | 14.64 | 25.02 |
| 1857 | 5.78 | 15.50 | 25.13 |
| 1858 | 4.30 | 11.55 | 21.92 |
| 1859 | 5.10 | 14.90 | 22.11 |

The articles embraced under the heading of "general prices," are such as are consumed by the farmer, but are not articles of export, such as leather, rice, salt, sugar, &c. We see here plainly, that whilst "general prices" advance in the main as the currency per man increases, and decrease in the same way, the price of flour does not.—Thus it was $5.78 per barrel in 1857, when the currency was at its highest point, $15.50 per man, whilst ten years before, 1847, it was $6.67 under a currency of $9.38 per man.

From the foregoing, I think, we can safely assert that currency expansion is always more of a benefit to the makers of, and traders in, general merchandise other than agricultural products, than it is to the farmer, and that currency contraction will entail more of loss upon them than upon the farmer. A contraction of our currency now, sufficient to bring it to par, could not bring down the price of wheat more than twenty per cent. the present premium on gold.—This would make the price about the same as it was in 1858 in New York, when in the same year, a year of contraction, a pound of leather in the same place was worth 23 cts. a pound of sugar 6 cts. and a sack of salt 65 cts. A return to these latter prices now, would entail a much greater loss than 20 per cent. on all holders of these articles, as all conversant with the facts must know. Salt must decline more than 50 per cent. to bring it to its former price, and the others in much the same ratio.

The idea, therefore, which I think needs enforcement, at the present juncture, is this:—It is the interest and duty of the farmers to urge a policy of contraction and speedy resumption upon the general government. When we reflect that a vast majority of the people of this land are farmers and farm-laborers, and that their interests are suffering terribly at present, whilst others enjoy comparative immunity, we see ample reason for the government taking some action looking to their relief. Each succeeding session of Congress brings us the stereotyped report that "Congress will do nothing towards contracting the currency at this session," reminding one very much of the report so often quoted during the war, "all quiet along the Potomac." Is it not surprising, in the light of all past history of redundant and inconvertible currencies, to learn ot only our public men talk largely of "relieving" the labor of the land by the issue of more paper, but also to find many of our farmers and laborers strong in the belief that "more money" is what is needed by them? Have we not now a volume of currency larger than ever before the war, in proportion to population, and yet all this amount fails to meet the end required? It is not quantity of currency, which we need but quality—not the increase of the number of paper dollars, but increase in the value of those we now have, so that a dollar will buy more of everything than it now does.

This country has greater natural facilities for agricultural production than any country in the world, but the great draw-back to production is the great cost at which everything is produced. If we could reduce the cost of farming to anything near the European figure, we could out-strip any other country in the production and sale of grain. Is it not clear, then, that that policy which will reduce the cost of the necessaries and comforts of life, will also reduce the cost of living and labor, and thus make us more able to compete with others in the sale of grain? A thoroughly sound currency will add much in this direction. Already the wheat growers of England complain that foreign wheat is brought there for less money than it costs them to raise it. With a currency as sound as that of England, which ours has never been, we would have much to enable us to make her dependant upon us for her daily bread, and thus have the best possible assurance of continued peace between us. Is not one of the strongest reasons against "resumption" found in the fact, that some one else must suffer in the process besides the farmers? In regard to which, with your permission, Messrs. Editors, I propose to say more hereafter.

D. P. F.

NO HUMBUG.—We do not wish to inform you, reader, that Dr. Wonderful, or any other man, has discovered a remedy that cures all diseases of mind, body or estate and is destined to make our sublunary sphere a blissful paradise, to which heaven itself shall be but a side show, but we do wish to inform you that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has cured thousands of cases of Catarrh in its worst forms and stages, and the proprietor will pay $500 for a case o this loathsome disease which he cannot cure. It may be procured by mail for sixty cents, by addressing R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale at most Drug Stores everywhere. 1t

A BIG STEP FORWARD.—Ready-made Clothing is a comparatively new article of merchandise. We can all remember when all our clothing had to be made as we ordered it, either at home or at the tailor's. But every since Ready-made Clothing became a distinct buisness vast and rapid improvements have been made in it and no house has done so much as Wanamaker & Brown toward raising its character. Every year they have introduced improvements, until now their garments are renowned all over the country, and Oak Hall is become the great centre of the Ready-made Clothing Trade for our State. 1t

AN ARTICLE OF TRUE MERIT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are the most popular article in this country or Europe for Throat Diseases and Coughs, and this popularity is based upon real merit, which cannot be said of many other preparations in the market which are really but weak imitations of the genuine Troches. 1t

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS.—The returns to the Statistical Division of the Department of Agriculture, during the month of January, indicate a decrease in the average of winter wheat in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, New York, in those of New England and of the cotton belt. The decrease in Illinois is placed at eight per cent.; in Michigan, six per cent.; in Indiana and in New York, five per cent. So far as returns have been received the area in California is nearly the same as of last year, and but little difference is reported from Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Missouri. Kansas has increased her acreage very largely, and Arkansas, Kentucky and West Virginia a material increase.

The average of other winter grains appear to have been reduced slightly. The reports of the condition of winter wheat are not generally favorable in the Ohio valley. The reduction below an average appearance at this period of the year ranges from six to twenty per cent. In Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Texas and California an average condition is indicated. In most of the remaining States the appearance of the plant is comparatively unpromising. The probabilities at present are opposed to the prospect of another year of marked productiveness.

An increased average of barley is reported from Kentucky, Missouri, Indiana, Wisconsin and Kansas. Its condition is little better than that of wheat throughout the Ohio Valley and the Northwest. The reduction is represented to be 13 per cent. in Missouri, 9 in Indiana, 8 in Illinois, 7 in Ohio and 5 in Michigan.

THE Lycoming Standard says a woman in that place induced her husband last week to sell off all his household furniture and place the proceeds in her hands. When she got the funds she concluded that her husband didn't suit her, and invested a portion of the money in a railroad ticket. The husband, is now wifeless and homeless.

THE Ways and Means Committee have voted to reduce the taxes during the next fiscal year thirty millions of dollars.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Step by step this commodity has attained its unprecedented fame. They are universally approved.—They support, strengthen, and aid the growth of muscles. They appear to have a peculiar effect upon the nerves, allaying irritability, while supplying warmth. They seem to accumulate electricity, and aid the circulation of the blood through the part where applied, by which healthy actions are induced.

Even in paralysis, where articulation was suspended, the use of the Porous Plasters to the spine restored the articulation, and materially reduced the paralysis. In fact, the patient could help herself, while before the Porous Plaster was applied she was as helpless as a baby. We refer to Mrs. Sally Elliot, Springfield, Mass.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver, and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe, a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall-bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills, or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord.—No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease, and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompanying each, make it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless the patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists.

The Star and Sentinel.

Gettysburg, Friday, Feb. 25, 1870.

RESIGNED.—The Lutheran Observer states that the Rev. Mr. Lane has resigned as Pastor of the Lutheran church near Littlestown.

☞ S. W. Hoffman, Assignee of F. D. Duphorn, will sell, on Saturday next, at 1 o'clock, P. M., the large new Brick House on Carlisle Street, near Stevens Hall, and the undivided half interest in 12 acres of land adjoining—also, all the Doors and Shutters for the building already worked out, together with a lot of Posts, Brick, Sand, &c.

☞ We are indebted to Messrs. Washburn & Co., Boston, Mass., for a copy of the "AMATEUR CULTIVATOR'S GUIDE," containing the most complete catalogue of flowers and plants we have ever seen.—Specimen numbers will be sent to any person desiring it. The same firm forward seeds to any address, on receipt of price.

IMPROVEMENTS.—A correspondent in Menallen township informs us of the following improvements in that district, completed or in progress:—David Noel, a new Barn, 38x42 feet; Charles Heller, a new Dwelling; Thomas McKinny, a new House; Peter Senner, a new House; John Warner, a new House; and Hiram Warner, a new House—all in the same neighborhood.

RESUMPTION.—An intelligent correspondent discusses the question of "Resumption" in its bearing on agricultural interests, and makes a plausible argument. Without committing ourselves to J. P. F.'s views, we cheerfully give place to his article, which is well written and worthy of perusal. He is an intelligent Farmer, whose Agricultural communications some time ago commanded marked attention.

EXHIBITION.—The colored folks had an exhibition in their church on Tuesday evening last, the 22d, which was repeated on Wednesday evening. The exercises consisted of speeches, dialogues, and singing, old and young participating, making up a varied programme, which seemed to be hugely enjoyed by the audience. The church not being very large, and a portion being occupied by the staging, the accommodations for the audience were limited.

OLIVER OPTIC.—This capital Juvenile Magazine, is now issued in monthly parts for the convenience of subscribers who prefer it in that form to the usual weekly issues. We have the No. for February before us, and have no hesitation in endorsing it as one of the very best magazines for the young issued from the press. Address Messrs. Lee & Shepard, publishers, Boston; 2.50 per annum, or 5 copies for $10.

SLEIGH RIDE.—On last Friday morning the friends of the little orphans attending school at St. Joseph's Seminary, at McSherrystown, treated them to a capital sleigh ride. Numerous sleighs were brought into requisition, and the little ones were snugly tucked in, and the party started gaily off in the direction of Oxford. A ride of some ten or twelve miles was given them, and the little folks enjoyed it hugely.
—Hanover Spectator.

COLD SNAP.—The rain storm of last Friday and Saturday, was succeeded by a cold snap, the severest we have had this winter. On Sunday and Monday the mercury went down to 7° above zero. Ice of sufficient thickness was formed on Rock Creek to enable owners of ice houses to put in a full supply. The storm seems to have been very extensive, telegraphic despatches from all quarters representing an intense degree of cold. In the far west the mercury sank far below zero, while cable despatches speak of an unusual cold spell in England and northern Europe.

DEVOTIONAL MEETINGS.—Thursday of this week being the day set apart over the United States, for special prayer for Colleges, Schools, Academies, and youths generally attending educational institutions, devotional exercises were held in Christ Church in this place during the day and evening. Meetings for prayer were also appointed for every evening in the week.

In the Methodist Episcopal church religious services have been held nightly for several weeks. We understand that a good deal of religious interest has been manifested during the progress of the meetings.

ROBERY AND ARREST.—On the night of the 16th inst., the watchmaker shop of D. Grumbine, in East Berlin, was entered and an eye-glass and pair of pinches stolen. The same night the tailor shop of J. Q. Schwartz was entered and a coat, pair of pants, two hats, six silk head-nets, a lady's dress, a lot of ribbons, &c., were stolen. TEMPERANCE ADDRESS.—In accordance with the reccomendation of the Congressional Temperance Society, endorsed by the recent State Convention, a meeting of the friends of Temperance was held in Christ Church on Tuesday last, the 22d, Rev. Dr. Brown delivering an address, by invitation of a Committee of Good Templars and Sons of Temperance. It was an address of marked ability, out of the beaten track of temperance lectures, eminently logical, and enforced by interesting historical illustrations and telling facts. After some general allusions to the day and character of Washington, Dr. Brown took for his theme the admonition of Washington in his Farewell Address, on the importance of fostering Religion and Morality as the safeguards of national prosperity, and undertook to show—1st, that the use of and traffic in intoxicating liquors are prejudicial to religion and morality; 2d, that such use and traffic are prejudicial to national prosperity, a wrong to society, indefensible on legal and moral guards, and that the proper remedy is prohibitory legislation. It was an able argument and commanded the close attention of the audience throughout.

AN ANCIENT PRESBYTERIAN CALL.—Through the kindness of a friend, we are enabled to print below a curious and interesting document which will be read with pleasure by a large circle of subscribers. It is a copy of the Original Call made by the Presbyterian Churches of Marsh Creek and Tom's Creek to the Rev. Dr. Paxton, who for half a century ministered, with remarkable zeal, ability and fidelity to that people, and whom we have heard so competent a judge as the late THADDEUS STEVENS pronounce the best preacher he had ever listened to. The document bears date 1791, and will be found to contain the names of the leading men of that section of the country, in that day.—Many of their descendants survive to fill their father's places in the old Church. The call is as follows:

The congregation of Lower Marsh Creek in conjunction with the congregation of Tom's Creek being on sufficient grounds well satisfied of the ministerial qualifications of you, Mr. William Paxton, Preacher of the gospel, and having good hopes from our past experience of your Labours that your ministrations in the gospel will be profitable to our spiritual interests, do earnestly call and desire you to undertake the pastoral office of said congregation; promising you in the discharge of your Duty all proper support, encouragement and obedience in the Lord: And that you may be free from worldly cares and avocations we hereby promise and oblige ourselves to pay to you in annual payments as specified in the subscription accompanying this our Call, during the time of your being and continuing the regular Pastor of this church, and our continuing under your pastoral care. In testimony whereof we have respectively subscribed our names this 28th day of Nov. 1791.

Dr. A. L. SCOVILL, is the inventor of several medical preparations which have become very popular, and have been liberally used. Among his inventions are "Hall's Balsam for the Lungs" and "Liverwort and Tar." For the past six years a better Lung remedy has been offered to the public. Read the following letter from Dr. SCOVILL referring to it:

Messrs J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

Gents.—I make the following statement from a perfect conviction and knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated PULMONARY CONSUMPTION:—I have witnessed its effects on the young and on the old, and I truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and matter to raise, without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs), and without producing constipation of the Bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops the night-sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine—the other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

☞ Rosadalis is sold by all Druggists.

THE TOMATO—AND ITS CULTURE.

This fruit, long known as "the love apple," and said to have come from the far south, has rapidly gained favor wherever grown. It is susceptible of great improvement, though it has generally received less attention than most garden vegetables. While under careful culture they have been long in reaching their present state, the tomato has been a comparatively short time under culture, and yet, nature has done so much for it that it already holds high rank among our finest fruits of the garden. Many medical men claim for it valuable hygienic qualities, and the human system—that most perfect of all laboratories—has confirmed the decision. It is delicately acid, cooling and healthful. In hot weather our children seize the golden "love apples" and quench their thirst, while we all use them at our tables.

Since this fruit must be brought to perfection, why grow coarse, unsightly, spongy, ill-flavored tomatoes, when by attending to a few simple, but important things, the finest qualities may be had?

IMPORTANCE OF SAVING SEED FROM EARLY FRUIT.

The temptation of growers for market, to sell the earliest at a large price is so great, that little seed is saved except from those maturing later; doubtless under the impression that the seed is just as good. But this is a great mistake. The seed from the fruit which ripens earliest any season will be the earliest and best the next year. There is no doubt that the tomato has been vastly improved by careful culture (and can be still further) in the desirable qualities of earliness, productiveness, size, solidity, fewness of seeds, beauty of form, thinness of skin, delicacy of flavor and richness of color.

HOW TO IMPROVE THE FRUIT.

Our experience has told us that this is the way to do it:

1st. Plants should be grown in warm, light, rich soil from the seeds of the earliest ripened fruit, having most, if not all, the valuable qualities mentioned.

2d. They should be grown early.

3d. During no time of their growth should they suffer from want of warmth, sunshine, fresh air, and a soil in proper mechanical and chemical condition for their healthy growth.

GERMINATING THE SEEDS IN A LITTLE BOX.

For family use, (and it is especially with this view we write,) the plants may be started in a little box in a warm room; and for field culture in a hot-bed or green house. In quite a small box all the plants any family need may be grown. A few plants well cared for will be worth a great deal more than a large number of ill-grown, such as we so often see crowded to suffocation and death in dealers' hot-beds. Such long, weakly things can have no value. The little box need be no more than two feet long, a foot wide and a few inches deep, covered with glass to counteract the dryness of the atmosphere of the room. Put the box in the sunshine, keep the room warm and carefully ventilated. Do not be in too great haste to germinate the seeds; but once started see that the plants get no check from want of care.

WHEN TO SOW SEED FOR AN EARLY CROP.

In the neighborhood of New York, the seed may be sown about the middle of February or beginning of March.

TRANSPLANTING.

When the plants are two or three inches high they may be put into small pots to be afterwards transplanted into larger ones, or into a hot-bed. The transplanting of them at least twice, or even three or four times before putting them in the open ground, (which should not be done till all appearance of frost has gone, unless they are protected when necessary,) will hasten early ripening. Each time, before transplanting, the soil should be well watered so that a ball of earth may be removed with each plant, and this is particularly desirable when they are being put in the open ground and thus their growth will not be checked. During all this time let them have all the light and fresh air that they can stand; use mild days, but beware of cold and frost. A uniform warm temperature is desirable, but not so hot as to make the plants grow too tall and sickly. If convenient, the plants, some time before being set in the open ground, may be put into a cold frame, protecting them at first as much as may be necessary.

If the above plan be followed faithfully you will have an abundance of fine healthy plants, when everybody else is scouring the country for what is not always to be found—good tomato plants.

OPEN GROUND CULTURE.

Once in the open ground they will delight and flourish in a rather light than heavy, and rich, but not overich, soil, and if on the south-eastern exposure of a hill side, where they will be protected from the cold winds, and enjoy the sunshine, all the better.

They should not be less than four feet apart. Keep the soil friable. Let no weeds grow. Hoe early and often, and they cannot take possession of the soil.

WHEN TO SOW SEED FOR A LATE CROP.

For a late crop the seed may be sown in the open ground in the spring. When planted in their place, they will bear till the frost comes, and longer if protected.

PRUNING.

As the greater part of the fruit on the tomato vine is berne near the ground it will be found that the shortening of the vines will cause nutrition to flow to fruit instead of making branches. Don't be afraid to cut out all suckers and non-bearing branches, and to shorten those that wander. The writer knows that the advantages of pruning are questioned by some, but he has learned by experience, whatever may be the rationale of the matter, the results are in favor of rather severe pruning.

KEEPING THE FRUIT CLEAN.

The fruit may be kept clean and prevented from premature decay by spreading brush, salt hay, or other such material under the vines, or by training them. But if the soil be light and dry this will not be necessary especially for a general crop. In garden culture, if it be thought best to train the vines, a simple way is to set poles twelve feet apart, the tops five feet high. Attach wires horizontally to them, which will form a cheap trellis for the vines, thus exposing them to the free action of the sun and air. The flavor of the fruit thus grown will be finer than that ripened on the ground.

THE WORLD,

DODGES' OHIO AND BUCKEYE

Reapers and Mowers.

A careful examination of these machines will commence any one of their superior merits over all others, in strength, durability, ease of draft, and reliability for work, on all kinds of ground, and in every variety of grass and grain. Confident of this we invite those in want of a good machine to examine for themselves before purchasing elsewhere.

These machines can be sold as Naked Mowers—REAPERS as Hand Rake, Self-Rake, or Dropper.—Two different sizes: No. 1 Machine, with two cutter Bars and three Knives, cutting five and a half feet in grain and four feet eight inches in grass; No. 2, cutting four feet six inches.

We have that confidence in these machines that we are willing to let those wanting a machine test them with any other they may wish, and keep the one that gives most satisfaction. DODGES' AUTOMAN SELF-RAKE has given such general satisfaction that we consider it the best Self-Rake out, and is attached to no other machine except the Dodge Machine, the Ohio and Buckeye patent.

For the benefit of those wanting machines we would refer them to a few of those to whom we have sold the last season, viz:

Also, WIRE TOOTH HAY RAKES, including the celebrated Brandt Rake, and Self-discharging Rakes. Also, PLOUGHS, FANNING MILLS, AND FARM IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY.

Persons wishing to examine machines will find them at the warehouse of JOSEPH WIBLE & SONS, Gettysburg, Pa., or at the residence of the subscriber, 2 miles from Gettysburg, on the Harrisburg road. Persons wanting Circulars will address the subscriber, Gettysburg, Pa.

STILL AHEAD!

HOFFHEINS'

REAPER & MOWER,

One of the Greatest Machines of the Age,

IS superior to any other Machine now in use, as it will excel any that will ever be introduced, having been thoroughly tried and given general satisfaction. I would now inform all those who intend purchasing Machines to call and examine for themselves. This Machine is noted particularly to excel all other machines in strength, durability, ease of draft, and reliability of work, in all kinds of grass and grain.—It cuts lodged grain admirably, which is a great item in Machines to a farmer. It can be used as a hand rake as well as a self-raker. It cuts 5 feet 2 inches in grain; 4 feet 10 inches in grass; has a steel cutter bar, with wrought iron guards; it can be used as a Single Mower as well as a Combined Machine.

A full trial of the Machine can be had.

Also, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, and the great and well-known BRANT RAKE, the best rakes ever introduced. We would also call your attention to the IRON DOUBLE SHOVEL PLOUGH, wrought iron frame, very light and strong, steel shovels, easily adjusted to run shallow or deep, and is neat and tastefully made.

ALSO, THE KESSLER AND EXCELSIOR FANNING MILL, the old Bamborough Fan improved, for many years a great favorite among the farmers of Pennsylvania. It is large and strong, has two cockle screens, and warranted to work perfectly.

Also all kinds of FARMING IMPLEMENTS always on hand.

Any person wishing to examine these machines can see them at the Battle-field Hotel, or at my residence, 3 miles from Gettysburg, between the Taneytown road and the Baltimore pike.
